

We're all desperate for a relaxing break and there's a world full of sumptuous new treats waiting for us in... the hottest new hotels of 2021, from Scotland to New York via the Maldives

- In Paris, luxury hounds will be able to dive into Cheval Blanc, owned by LVMH, which opens in the spring
- Reschio is a 3,700-acre estate in Umbria and in April a hotel will open within its 11th Century castle
- In the Caribbean's British Virgin Islands, hang out at Richard Branson's new private island, Moskito Island

By SARAH TURNER FOR THE MAIL ON SUNDAY

PUBLISHED: 14:34 GMT, 15 December 2020 | UPDATED: 16:01 GMT, 15 December 2020

While we've been stuck at home, new hotels around the world have waited patiently to welcome their first guests.

Here we showcase some of the most hotly anticipated destinations for 2021, with hosts very much at the ready to indulge us, finally, with a much needed break.

SHORT HAUL

At Bethlen Estates in the Carpathian Mountains in Transylvania, guests can choose between staying in the restored self-catering houses or the Corner Barn

The Carpathian Mountains in Transylvania are known as the last great wilderness in Europe, but you'll be able to immerse yourself in comfort at Bethlen Estates. Guests can choose between restored self-catering houses and the Corner Barn, all mixing wood-burning stoves with traditional kilim rugs and contemporary furniture. B&B from £227 a night (bethlenestates.com).